Family Communication and Partnership

Communication happens daily during drop off and pick up. Families may also contact the provider by phone, text, or email. Families are encouraged to share updates about their child.

Curriculum Philosophy

Children learn through hands on exploration and play based learning. Activities may include art, sensory play, music, reading, outdoor play, and practical life activities.

Staff to Child Ratios

Little Roots Home Daycare follows Washington State licensing rules for staff to child ratios and maximum group sizes for family home childcare programs.

Mixed Age Groups

Children of different ages may participate together in activities. Activities are adjusted so children of all ages can participate safely and appropriately.

Child Guidance and Discipline

Children are guided using positive, respectful, and developmentally appropriate techniques. These include redirection, modeling appropriate behavior, offering choices, teaching problem-solving skills, and supporting children in expressing their emotions appropriately. Clear expectations, consistent routines, and a safe, nurturing environment are used to prevent challenging behaviors.

Corporal punishment or any form of humiliating, frightening, or physically harmful discipline is strictly prohibited. Corporal punishment includes, but is not limited to, hitting, spanking, shaking, slapping, or any action that causes pain, fear, or humiliation. Such practices are never allowed.

Physical restraint is not used except in rare emergency situations when a child poses an immediate risk of harm to themselves or others. In such cases, only the minimum amount of physical intervention necessary to ensure safety will be used, and only for the shortest duration possible. The provider does not use restraint as a form of discipline and will follow all applicable state licensing regulations.

Families will be notified immediately of any incident involving safety intervention. This will include verbal communication at pickup and written documentation detailing the situation and actions taken.

All guidance and discipline practices are intended to support children's social-emotional development while maintaining their dignity and safety at all times.

Expulsion Policy

Expulsion will only occur if a child's behavior creates a serious safety risk and all reasonable efforts to support the child have been attempted.

Termination of Services

Care may end if policies are repeatedly not followed, tuition is unpaid, or the program can no longer meet the needs of the child or family.

Care for Children with Specific or Special Needs

I will consider caring for children with special needs within my abilities and training, as long as I can safely meet the needs of all children in my care.

Families must provide clear information about the child's needs, routines, and any medical or behavioral plans before enrollment.

For medical conditions such as seizures, a written care plan and any necessary medications must be provided. In an emergency, I will follow the care plan, call 911 if needed, and notify parents immediately.

For children who have frequent emotional outbursts, I will use positive guidance techniques such as redirection, calming strategies, and providing a safe space to help the child regulate. I will communicate with families to maintain consistency and develop appropriate support strategies. If behaviors become unsafe or ongoing, a meeting will be required to determine next steps.

For allergies or special diets, written instructions and any emergency medication must be provided. While precautions will be taken, an allergen-free environment cannot be guaranteed.

Infant Feeding Policy

Infants will be fed according to their individual needs and feeding schedules as provided by their parents. Feeding will be responsive to each infant's hunger and fullness cues to support healthy development.

Infants will always be held during bottle feeding to ensure safety, comfort, and bonding. Bottles will never be propped, and infants will not be fed while lying in a crib or on the floor.

Breast milk, formula, and baby food must be provided by the family unless otherwise arranged. All bottles and food must be clearly labeled. Feeding instructions from parents will be followed closely.

The introduction of solid foods will be based on the child's developmental readiness and only after discussion with and approval from the parents. New foods will be introduced by the family at home first to monitor for any allergic reactions, unless otherwise agreed upon.

As children grow and are developmentally ready, they will be encouraged to participate in self-feeding in a safe and supervised manner.

All feeding practices will follow safe food handling guidelines and Washington State licensing regulations.

Toilet Training

Toilet training will begin when a child shows signs of readiness such as staying dry for longer periods, showing interest in using the toilet, or communicating their needs.

The provider will support children with encouragement, routine bathroom breaks, and positive reinforcement. Children will be guided with patience and consistency. Accidents are a normal part of the learning process and children will never be punished, pressured, or shamed.

Child sleep pattern

Infants sleep according to their individual schedules and needs throughout the day. Toddlers and preschool children have a scheduled daily rest period.

Infants sleep in approved play yards. Toddlers and preschool children rest on individual daycare cots. Sleep areas are supervised at all times.

Safe Sleep Requirements

Safe sleep practices are followed at all times to reduce the risk of Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (SIDS) and ensure a safe sleep environment for all infants.

Infants are always placed on their backs to sleep on a firm, flat mattress in an approved crib or play yard that meets current safety standards. Soft bedding, pillows, blankets, stuffed animals, and other loose items are not allowed in the sleep area.

Infants will not be allowed to sleep in car seats, swings, bouncers, or other equipment not approved for sleep. If an infant falls asleep in such equipment, they will be moved to a safe sleep surface as soon as possible.

Sleep areas are always supervised, and infants are checked frequently. The sleep environment is kept at a comfortable temperature, and infants are dressed appropriately to prevent overheating.
